PIG CROCK SEES M'FARLAND WIN

Lengthy Californian Has Easy Five-Mile Victory Over Samuelson.

When Floyd McFarland is blowing his own brass and riding fair dinkum—which is the Australian way of saying, when Mac is betting his own money and is riding to win—he always catches in the big ticket at the box office. This was the status of affairs in the match race between McFarland and Samuelson at the saucer track. A crowd of 4,000 persons, the largest of the season, was there and they saw the lengthy Californian easily defeat the man who has made Provo famous. When the time came for the big sprint, it was missing as McFarland was not forced to use one.

The race was paced by two tandem teams, Downing and Bardgett and Wilcox and Burris. These alternated pace every six laps, or three-quarters of a mile. The men within four laps of the finish, McFarland and Samuelson alternated with the pace, which was not fast enough to extend either rider. When the tandems quit, Samuelson was leading and watched McFarland for the latter jump. It came two laps from home and instead of "batting" it out, McFarland merely passed around Samuelson and watched him over his shoulder to the tape. McFarland won sitting up and wearing the smile which has won him more races than his lengthy pedal stride.

Samuelson had the misfortune to fall in one of the earlier races of the evening and ran a big splinter into his leg. This was taken up by Dr. C. G. Plummer before the match race with McFarland. It was a painful injury and had he not been Samuelson in riding. However, had the accident not occurred the result would have been just the same.

Hopper Wins Over Lawson.

By far the best race of the evening was the final of the three-quarter mile handicap in which Norman Hopper crossed the tape in front of Iver Lawson. Folger and Pye were the combination used to pull Lawson to the limit, and this pair certainly lined it out to get Lawson within striking distance. For some reason Lawson did not get on top of the lead of the race when the high mark men were caught. Probably he was waiting for one of those famous "come back" races, which make the rest of the bunch look like selling platters. At any rate he started the sprint and was making hay with one of the upper mark men when he hit the bank.

Lawson lost his stride for an instant and the instant he lost it, Hopper was a fraction of a second he again began to put those piston rods into his pedal. Hopper's jump carried him right over the tape a fraction over the fast coming Lawson.

In his heat of this race Lawson added another record to his already long list of this season by riding the three-quarters from scratch in 1:24.5. Announcer Fred Meakin overlooked the fact that some one of the many who carries a Herald dope book called his attention to it.

Hume After Fame.

Jack Hume, he of the tall frame and kitchen stove sprint, sought new worlds to conquer when he rode the Provo saucer. Turville as a pilot. It was the mile paced record held by himself which Hume thought easy. Just got going and he was gone when his wheel collapsed. He did the slide for life hunt along the high banks of the saucer and hit the bank with the remark, "It never touched me." Those who saw the fall have some opinions of their own on this matter.

The mile open was easy first for Lawson, easy second for McFarland, easy third for Downing, and an easy medal for the light haired youth who rides as Freddie Folger. In this race Samuelson's tire punctured and this put him out of the running.

Summary of the Races.

The summary, also was omitted.

DO THE CHILDREN ENJOY THE CIRCUS? WATCH THEIR FACES

"Yes, the children wanted to come, and after much persuasion I consented to bring them."

How often has every American heard this remark in the menagerie tent of the circus? Sometimes the speaker was perhaps a crusty old bachelor, who had escorted the average man or woman to admit that he or she cares to tread the tumbark or sawdust and watch wild animals parading up and down their cages. This form of entertainment does not appeal to the adult. That is why many who are
